this eclectic series of twelve stories based on some of the life experiences of gustav tjgaard runs the gamut the nonfiction narrative presents dramatizations set in the lush ambiance and grandeur of earth s largest temperate rain forest the book is a picture album of life in alaska s tongass national forest these adventures and perilous undertakings occur in a forest of big trees big birds big fish and big bears where immense peaks are wrapped in great glaciers that break off into bays and fjords where big whales spout the peaks are capped by perennial snows that form the highest coastal mountain range in the world rising abruptly from salty coves to blue ice and black crags surely this is landscape to swell the soul and humble the ego from chapter 4 this was a phenomenon experienced in the dead of winter while at the author's dacha on Baranof Island the weather outside was malevolent with a wind factor that brought the temperature down to well below zero comforted by the warmth of the stove and a glass of Tennessee whiskey while listening to Schumann's Waldszenen the author dozed off it was in this state of mind that he recognized their midnight visitor was Percy a former fiancé of his wife Sophie it wasn't until the following spring that they learned Percy died two weeks before his visit this book reconstructs the poetics of Carmen Martín Gaité by viewing the concept of journey as a fundamental principle upon which she bases and elaborates her narrative writing of the 1990s five novels published in this period receive critical attention all of which coincide with the last trips taken by the writer to New York Caperucita en Manhattan 1990 Nubosidad variable 1992 La reina de las nieves 1994 Lo raro es vivir 1996 and Irse de casa 1998 to the extent that the journey is the essence of the narrative under consideration the concept is analysed as an aesthetic practice and an attempt to identify a series of actions which allow us to link the writer's novels with two areas that have previously received only scant critical scrutiny geography and the visual dimension this book presents a comparative and interdisciplinary analysis of space in Martín Gaité's narrative as well as in her collages drawings and paintings
